

BANISH GRAY HAIR.

A Simple Remedy Gives Color and Beauty to the Hair.

Who does not know the value of Sage and Sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft and glossy in good condition? As a matter of fact, Sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature graying, than Sage and Sulphur, if properly prepared.

The Wyeth Chemical company of New York put out an ideal preparation of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, in which Sage and Sulphur are combined with other valuable remedies for keeping the hair and scalp in clean, healthy condition. If your hair is losing its color or constantly coming out, or if you are troubled with dandruff or dry, itchy scalp, get a fifty cent bottle of Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur from your druggist, use it according to the simple directions, and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in the appearance of your hair.

All druggists sell it, under guarantee that the money will be refunded if the remedy is not exactly as represented. Agents The Lee & Osgood Co.

ONLY 200 OUT.

Many Operatives Went Back to Work at Thread Mills Thursday—No Evidence of Intimidation or Disorder.

Thursday morning at 10.07, Gen. Eugene S. Ross, agent of the local plant of the American Thread company, left for New York on business. When questioned relative to the strike situation at the company's plant he stated that there was nothing that he could say with reference to the matter. The people had left their work and were no longer in the employ of the company and that was all there was to it. He stated that he had been figuring up how many were out and found that there were only about 200. Some who did not go to work Wednesday went into the mills to work Thursday.

The police were at the mill gates again Thursday morning and noon, but there were no disturbances. Some of the people who are out on strike were in the vicinity of the mill entrances, watching the operatives going in, and in some cases addressed different people in their own language, endeavoring to induce them to remain out. No change was apparent in the afternoon and everything was quiet and orderly, although Chief E. H. Richmond had six patrolmen stationed at the various mill gates, two at No. 2, two at No. 4, and two across the river near No. 4. No interference was offered by the strikers to anyone desiring to enter the mill gates. Most of the strikers gathered on the north sidewalk of Main street, opposite the big committee from the strikers was at all the morning trains at the union station, awaiting the expected arrival of I. W. W. leaders from outside cities, but none put in an appearance. There was no mass meeting during the day, although knots of strikers congregated at various places throughout the Lower Village.

No new cases of diphtheria have appeared at St. Joseph's hospital and the two patients afflicted with the disease are reported as getting along nicely. They are isolated in the nurses' home and special nurses are detailed to care for them. No one else comes in contact with the patients except the attending physician, who takes every possible precaution.

All possibilities possible were also taken at the hospital, so that there could not be any spread of the disease. The quarantine on the hospital may be lifted Sunday. People who have relatives receiving treatment in the institution may then hope for an opportunity to visit the regular patients after seven days' quarantine.

CHILDREN VS. FATHER.

Offspring of Charles A. Young Sue to Secure Interest in Property of Their Grandmother—Hearing Set for December 2.

The case of Charles A. Young, Jr., et al. vs. Charles A. Young, came up Thursday morning before Judge William L. Bennett of the superior court. The plaintiffs in the action are the children of the defendant, Charles A. Young, Jr., Bertha Young, both of Wethersfield, Rensselaer Young of Bridgeport and Caroline Young of O'Brien of New York. The suit was instituted some time ago by the children, according to their claim, to safeguard their interests in the property of their grandmother, Rebecca Young, who died many years ago, leaving to their father a half interest in her property outright and a life use of the other half interest. This has gone in which their father had a life use goes to them at his death. The contention of the plaintiffs is that their father has had more than he was entitled to and that he was preparing to dispose of the interest that really belongs to them. At the time the suit was originally instituted action was taken so that the defendant could not dispose of the property.

Thursday morning when the attorney for the plaintiff endeavored to seek information on how the defendant had spent his living since the death of his mother, objection was made by Attorney William A. King, counsel for the defendant, on the ground that such testimony would involve passing judgment on the action of the probate court. A long conference between the attorneys for all parties was held and the courtroom and announced that they had reached an agreement on the fact that the property involved was more valuable today than it was when the defendant came into possession of it. The plaintiffs rested their case here and Attorney King at once filed notice for non-suit.

The attorneys will submit briefs to the court on this motion, and if there is any necessity for a further hearing on the matter, one will be held. The case was thus disposed of for the time being and court was adjourned until Friday morning for short calendar session and regular assignment of cases. Attorney Nickerson of Bridgeport appeared for the plaintiffs, while Attorneys William A. King and Charles A. Capen of this city appeared for the defendant.

No Session of City Court.

There was no session of the police court Thursday morning.

Hunters Carried Suspicious Packages

In spite of the drizzle Thursday, a number of hunters were in town. They were without dogs and guns, and some of them had rather large packages, neatly papered and tied, that might indicate that the contents were ordinary merchandise, but if an examination had been made the result doubtless would be dead game birds, more than the limit, that out of the state hunters were endeavoring to smuggle back home without the knowledge of anyone. One chap in particular had an uneasy expression and was apparently glad when his train pulled out of the local station. Thursday was a pretty good day to make a getaway with illegal spoils of the hunt and chase.

JEWETT CITY.

Carpenter-Thatcher Wedding at Methodist Parsonage Thursday Afternoon.

At the M. E. parsonage Thursday, at three o'clock, Miss Amelia Thatcher, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Samuel Thatcher, was united in marriage with James Clifford Carpenter of Oneco. The ceremony was performed by the father of the bride, the English Episcopal service being used and witnessed only by members of the two families. There were no attendants. The bride was prettily attired in a navy blue traveling suit with white mesaline waist. The parsonage was decorated with cut flowers. The bride received many beautiful and useful gifts. The Gardner class of the M. E. church of which she was a member gave her a linen shower.

After a short wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Carpenter will be at home in Oneco.

Home From New York.
Mrs. Sherman Waters returned Thursday from a month's stay in New York.

A Greek Trust.
Visions of a famine or roasted chestnuts, peanuts and apples as well as a total disappearance of the six by ten foot candy and soda stands that are numerous in certain districts of the city, that perhaps flashed across the minds of many citizens when the Greeks in New York manifested an almost uncontrollable desire to rush back home to hear arms against the Turks, seem to have been uncalled for. While as many as 20,000 Greeks may leave this city, it is said the business of the men who are bearing arms will be well taken care of. A committee has been appointed by a Greek society in New York to which owners may intrust their stands while abroad. Except for a slight commission to pay the wages of a tender, the money realized from sales will be turned over to the man's family. If when the war is over he is lucky enough to have escaped the Turkish bullets, he will find his business awaiting him upon his return to New York.—Baltimore Star.
